Role Description

This is a key role within the project team, supporting the Learning & Community Engagement Officer to encourage participation and interest in the museum redevelopment project, through the delivery of a range of formal and informal activities and programming, working with a wide variety of users of all ages.

This is a unique opportunity to be part of an exciting heritage project from the outset. Through delivering a range of activities around the museum's collection and development plans in a lively and imaginative way, the post-holder will work with local community groups and organisations to engage them with the Museum, its collections and stories with the aim of embedding their voices into the new museum.

A passion for community work is vital, as is enthusiasm for engaging with the public and working with volunteers.

Key Outcomes

- To support the Brora Heritage Project team to deliver the new museum project, through a dynamic and engaging learning programme based on the project's Activity Plan (available on request).
- To ensure the local community is placed at the heart of the redevelopment project, ensuring the new museum forms an important part of people's lives in Brora and surrounds.
- To support the establishment of the Museum as a key learning resource locally and regionally.
- To increase volunteer involvement in Brora Heritage.

Key Responsibilities

- To support an innovative cross-curricular schools programme, delivering on-site sessions at the Museum, off-site sessions & supporting materials, working with teachers and learning institutions.
- To work with, develop and support our volunteers in delivering group sessions and events, school sessions and other learning related activities.
- To work with the Learning & Community Engagement Officer to develop links with community groups and organisations to encourage them to engage and help shape the new museum project development through the use the Museum, its collections and services.
- To conduct appropriate risk assessments and ensure the health & safety of participants in learning activities.
- To run workshops, activities and special events for families, local community organisations, adults and groups, both on and off-site.
- To assist with the marketing and promotion of the Museum through the production of printed and online materials, promotional activities, managing databases etc
- To support producing content for the Museum's social media, including Facebook, Twitter and YouTube.
- To support the evaluation and of all learning-related activities and to produce reports as required.
- To support the Learning & Community Engagement Officer in managing and operating the current Brora Heritage Centre.
- To manage volunteers at the current Brora Heritage Centre.
- To actively support the Museum's policies and procedures, and to comply with all health and safety at work requirements as laid down by the employer.
- To undertake such other duties as may be required as a part of the Museum team.

Reporting Structure

The Community Heritage Officer will be line managed and supported by the Learning & Community Engagement Officer and will provide a written report to the Board at its monthly meetings.

Key Working Relationships

The Community Heritage Officer will work closely with the Learning & Community Engagement Officer to engage with teachers and schools, as well as leaders of other community, formal and informal learning groups.

The Organisation

Clyne Heritage Society (CHS) is a very active and successful local heritage organisation based in Brora (in the parish of Clyne), in East Sutherland in the beautiful Highlands of Scotland. We are a limited company with charitable status. We celebrated our 25th birthday in March 2023 and, over our lifespan, have established a reputation for delivering many successful community heritage projects, events and activities involving a large following of participants.

In 2016, we took over the complete operation of the Highland Council-owned seasonal Brora Heritage Centre on behalf of Highlife Highland, quadrupling its footfall. It has been managed by Board members, who have overseen the two seasonal, part-time front of house staff and volunteers and planned activities and events.

Now, with the Old Clyne School redevelopment project, we aim to create a sustainable heritage hub for the community.

Some of our other activities include:

- annual syllabus of six winter lectures (average attendance since 2008 – 51).
- themed annual exhibitions (1999-2014).
- publications, including its acclaimed annual 92-page magazine, the Clyne Chronicle and the 'Brora in 50 Stories' series.
- community archaeological excavations - Brora Salt Pans excavations (2006-11), Wilkhouse excavation (2018), Greeanan excavation (2022), Aultcraggie (2023).
- heritage walks.
- genealogical and historical research.
- heritage training courses.
- oral history recording.
- collecting, storing and researching artefacts/archives related to the parish.
- occasional social events.

CHS works with the Brora Primary and Golspie High schools, both as part of the school's own curriculum and also with the staging of exhibitions, attending the Heritage Centre, taking part in digs etc, and also with the Brora Learning Centre and the Engaging With Activity Hub.

All our services are open to all, provided by a dedicated band of volunteers and seasonal part-time staff, at a variety of venues, mainly in-person. We absolutely pride ourselves on the professional standards we apply to all our activities, including events, projects and publications. We are now at a stage that we recognise we need professional help to get to the next level in our development and achieve our ambition for independence and sustainability in a challenging landscape.

Old Clyne School Project Background

Our largest and most important challenge in our history is our ambition to redevelop the Old Clyne School (OCS) - a semi-derelict (it is on Historic Environment Scotland's 'Buildings at Risk' register), C-listed former parish school - into our own community heritage centre, museum, and operational hub. Gifted to us in 2018, the building is located at a highly visible and conveniently accessible site, fronting directly onto the A9 trunk road and popular North Coast 500 tourist route and the project has been co-designed by the community for the community.

This project will be transformational for the Society, as well as for the village of Brora. It will fulfil our aims to be completely independent, by having a purposed-designed permanent home, from which we can operate an expanded, year-round sustainable heritage business and securely store our nationally recognised collection in an appropriate, environmentally controlled space.
